WASHINGTON (November 14, 2019) — Paralyzed Veterans of America is alerting the public to the challenges people with disabilities commonly face during air travel and asking for support of their efforts to ensure accessible air travel for all. This call to action comes as the busiest travel time of the year begins.

PVA has long been at the forefront of air travel accessibility. Now, the organization calls on Congress to pass legislation requiring accessible design standards that would include a path of travel for people with disabilities onto airplanes and improve enforcement of passenger rights for travelers under the Air Carrier Access Act with a private right of action. Furthermore, we urge airlines to increase training of their personnel and contractors to assist passengers with disabilities during the boarding and deplaning processes.

“The way things are now, flying with a disability is a danger,” said Charles Brown, national senior vice president of Paralyzed Veterans of America. “Earlier this year, I was injured when being transferred from a wheelchair to an aisle chair to board a plane for a cross-country flight. And again, when transferring to my seat. I ended up with a fracture that led to a serious infection, months in the hospital and follow up visits. If there were more standards and training for staff assisting passengers with disabilities, this would not have happened.”

PVA is asking the public to support their fight for equal accessibility for all people by signing up to learn how to help and take action at pva.org/travel.

“This is a matter of basic civil rights for all people with disabilities to have safe and reasonable accommodations in airports and on airplanes,” said David Zurfluh, national president of Paralyzed Veterans of America. “PVA has been leading the charge, but now we need everyone’s help. We are on a mission to create a world where independent living is a reality for everyone. By supporting our efforts, the American public is showing lawmakers that accessible air travel is an important issue that demands action.”

Although progress has been made, there are still glaring problems. The 1986 Air Carrier Access Act aims to ensure people with disabilities receive consistent and nondiscriminatory treatment when flying. Unfortunately, travelers still encounter significant barriers such as damaged wheelchairs, delayed assistance and lack of procedures and training for airline staff. These obstacles are not only inconvenient and takes away their dignity, but can cause serious injuries.

This is why PVA supports the Air Carrier Access Amendments Act (S.669 / H.R. 1549), which would improve aircraft accessibility for all people with disabilities and enforcement of passenger rights under the Air Carrier Access Act.

PVA was instrumental in the passage of the Federal Aviation Administration Reauthorization Act of 2018, which includes a “bill of rights” and an advisory panel for passengers with disabilities, revised TSA screening procedures for people with disabilities, and required reporting by large domestic airlines to the Department of Transportation (DOT) the number of wheelchairs and scooters they enplane and subsequently mishandle. PVA has also taken legal action against the DOT for their ongoing delays in issuing a proposed rule that would address lavatory accessibility on commercial single-aisle aircraft.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than one in four Americans report having a disability and the majority of those are mobility related. This statistic, coupled with an aging population, makes accessibility a widespread issue.

The Justice Department announced two settlement agreements under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) to protect and advance equal access for veterans with disabilities who use service dogs. One agreement is with Deerfield Inn & Suites, in Gadsden, Alabama. The second agreement is with the Landmark Hotel Group in Virginia Beach, Virginia, which manages the Holiday Inn Express in Hampton, Virginia. These matters were investigated and resolved in furtherance of the Department’s commitment to ensuring that our veterans enjoy equal access to public accommodations, such as restaurants, hotels, and shops.

The ADA generally requires public accommodations to provide access to individuals with disabilities who use service animals, including those who use service dogs for post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) or anxiety. Yet, in public accommodations across the country, individuals with disabilities are frequently barred from entering with a service animal.

The Deerfield Inn & Suites agreement resolves allegations that, after driving many hours, a veteran arrived at the Deerfield Inn & Suites at 4:00 am. When the desk clerk learned that the veteran was accompanied by her service dog, the desk clerk refused to honor the reservation, insisting that no dogs were permitted in the hotel. Despite numerous attempts by the veteran to explain that the dog was not a pet, but a highly trained animal required for disabilities she acquired in the service of our country, the clerk would not allow the veteran to stay at the hotel. As a result, and given the late hour, the veteran ended up sleeping in her car in the parking lot of a church.

Similarly, the complaint underlying the Landmark Hotel agreement alleged that, at the Holiday Inn Express managed by the Landmark Hotel Group, the desk clerk refused to honor a reservation by a veteran because he would not provide documentation that the dog with him was a service dog. The veteran informed the clerk that it was unlawful to ask for documents to establish that a dog is a service animal, but the desk clerk informed him that such documentation was corporate policy. The veteran then requested to speak to the hotel manager, who confirmed that it was the hotel’s policy to require such documentary proof. The veteran was forced to find another hotel.

Under the ADA, public accommodations generally must make modifications to their policies, practices or procedures – such as a no-pet policy – to permit the use of a service animal by a person with a disability. A service dog generally may go wherever the public is allowed to go, and a public accommodation may not require documentation about the service dog.

Under these agreements, both entities will adopt and implement a service dog policy; provide training on the service dog policy to employees and managers; post the service dog policy at their facilities and in their advertising; and pay money damages to the two veterans. All entities cooperated with the Department throughout the investigations.

House Passes Comprehensive Package to Aid Women Veterans

The House recently approved H.R. 3224, the Deborah Sampson Act, which addresses inequities and barriers that women veterans face when accessing VA care and benefits. H.R. 3224 is named after a Revolutionary War veteran, Deborah Sampson Gannett, who served in the Continental Army from 1782-1783 and was awarded a full military pension for her military service after years of petitioning Congress.

The measure encompasses 16 bills and reflects years of work and negotiation among stakeholders. The bills and a brief description of each are available here: https://juliabrownley.house.gov/brownleys-deborah-sampson-act-passes-house/.

As a result of PVA's advocacy, the legislation includes a requirement for VA to report on an annual basis an assessment of wheelchair accessibility of VA women's health centers. This assessment will include the accessibility of each kind of treatment provided at the center, including mammography. It will also address all other relevant factors, including door sizes, hoists, and equipment. PVA made this recommendation in response to concerns raised by PVA's women veterans committee regarding specific accessibility barriers at these clinics.

We applaud the House for advancing this important legislation. You can view a section-by-section summary of at https://juliabrownley.house.gov/wp-content/uploads/2019/10/Deborah-Sampson-Act-SBS-10.25.2019.pdf. In the coming months, we will be working with their Senate counterparts to incorporate additional provisions in their version that help meet the needs of catastrophically disabled women veterans.

DoD Expanding Access to Commissaries, Military Exchanges and Recreation Facilities

A provision in the Fiscal Year 2019 National Defense Authorization Act allows the Department of Defense to expand commissary; military exchange; and morale, welfare, and recreation retail privileges on stateside military installations to certain veterans and their caregivers. Beginning January 1, 2020, all service-connected disabled veterans, Purple Heart recipients, former prisoners of war (POW), and individuals approved and designated as the primary family caregivers of eligible veterans under VA’s Program of Comprehensive Assistance for Family Caregivers can use commissaries; exchanges; and morale, welfare and recreation retail facilities, in-person and online. Please note that veterans and their caregivers must have specific credentials in order to enter an installation. For more information regarding these privileges and access to military installations, please visit https://www.militaryonesource.mil/products#!/detail/780.

Legislation to End SSDI and Medicare Waiting Periods Introduced

On September 19, Senator Bob Casey (D-PA), Representative Lloyd Doggett (D-TX), and Representative Brian Fitzpatrick (R-PA) introduced the Stop the Wait Act, S. 2496/H.R. 4386. After navigating the bureaucracy and often waiting months to qualify for Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI), individuals with disabilities must wait another five months to begin getting their benefits and another two years to obtain health coverage through Medicare. The Stop the Wait Act would eliminate these waiting periods that can adversely affect individuals with disabilities by delaying critical health care and economic supports. Indeed, in 2017, more than 10,000 Americans died while waiting for SSDI benefits to begin. The wait times are particularly harmful to adults with rapidly progressing diseases.

American workers who develop a disability and have paid into Social Security may be eligible for SSDI, a benefit financed by employee/employer payroll taxes. SSDI requires an application and determination period that can last more than 18 months, as well as a five month waiting period to obtain a disability payment, and then another 24 months to receive Medicare benefits. The Stop the Wait Act aims to remove these unnecessary and onerous requirements by:

- Requiring the Social Security Administration to begin payment to an individual eligible for SSDI immediately after they are determined to be eligible for the program.
- Phasing out the 24-month waiting period for Medicare disability benefits.
- Directing the National Academy of Medicine to conduct a study to ensure the elimination of the waiting periods are resulting in better health and community living outcomes for eligible SSDI recipients and their families.

PVA was pleased to join with other aging and disability organizations in endorsing this legislation.

On November 9th, I had the privilege once again of placing flags at one of our most respected National VA Cemeteries – Bourne National Cemetery. With some very dedicated staff, and a large number of volunteers, we place nearly 77,000 flags. Even those veterans that are cremated, they are enshrined in special areas, flags are placed on the grasses near what are called the “crypts”. Because of my recent injury, I still wear my “body armor” when out and about. It was a bit rougher this year, but I was determined to assist. Ms. Holly Warshaw – long time volunteer for our Bldg 8 folks and Ms. Sally Stewart who also volunteers at Bldg 8. The three of us and another volunteer placed flags on lot 24 and assisted others in finishing up lot 26. Holly took us to visit two Chapter member graves – Louis Liggiero and Bruce Bohnwagner. The Cemetery has a great program to find graves among the 77,000 buried there.

I did not remember that Joy’s Aunt and Uncle are interred in Bourne as well. However, they were on the other side in Lot 9. Donald & Madeline Frankenhauser. They were both 1st Lieutenants in the U.S. Army during World War II. They were buried next to each other – Don passed away in 1987 and Madeline in 2008.

I remain embarrassed to admit that once again, I messed up my dates and would miss the annual Women Veterans Appreciation Day and presentation of the Deborah Sampson award (Congrats Christine Tron – well deserved), held at the State House on November 8th. I wanted to keep my long standing commitment to the Chapter Vice President and Sports Director by assisting with the “What’s It Like” program. What do we do for the 4 - 4th grade classes that get to attend this event? For one, our program coincides with the Cunningham School’s outstanding presentation to honor veterans.

After the presentation, we conduct our program in the gym. Mark Sanders, Mike Guilbault usually conduct the “slalom” portion of the event, and I conduct the basketball portion. These young people get to see there really is little difference between us when it comes to participating in sports, and pretty much anything else. We even got the school Principle and the Keynote Speaker, an Air Force Veteran herself, to test their basketball skills from the wheelchair! Because this program is highly spoken of by the children when they go back to their classes and go home, the Chapter has been asked to do three more schools in December and January 2020.

We are looking forward to them and hopefully, returning to Cunningham near Veterans’ Day 2020!
